#LiveFully (Elective Course)

What is God calling you to do with your life? When pressed with this question, many of us struggle to see how our unique personalities, passions, and past experiences come together for one, full life of following Jesus. Our day-to-day existence can feel fragmented, as we manage all of life’s demands while also trying to keep God as our first priority. #LiveFully challenges readers’ view of the Christian life, vibrantly illustrating how following Jesus transforms all 7 areas of personal life and impacts all 7 channels of culture.

Media (Technology):

This course will provide students with an introductory experience in a variety of media art forms. Using the creative process from start to finish, students will produce media arts projects from development and pre-production (idea to script), to production (casting, story-boarding, acting and shooting), post-production (editing, visual effects, sound/music), and distribution to create a video. Weekly projects are designed to give students the opportunity to learn the basic forms and styles of video production.

Personal Finance and Economics (Elective Course):

Personal Finance is an elective designed to develop the ability to solve real world financial problems in order to become fiscally sound citizens, consumers and producers in a technological society. Areas of focus will include investments, tax return preparation and tax law, cash management, budgeting, financial planning, financial services, insurance coverage, credit management, consumer purchases, rights and responsibilities, and financial decision making skills. An additional goal of Personal Finance will be to integrate biblical teachings and examples of stewardship in the students’ everyday lives and to investigate how these principles are relevant in the 21st century. The curriculum used for this course is Dave Ramsey’s Foundations in Personal Finance: High School Edition.
